Sidney L. Chadwick

Sidney,

Well, it's been 3 great & (interesting) years.
Sidney, you're one friend I'm glad I have.
I even enjoyed all that teasing and
I do think you're terribly attractive.
Any time you feel like traveling from UNC to Raleigh let me know.
Best wishes for a successful future

As ever,
Sharon Gaye Cooke

Sidney, just 4
those past 4 years that I've known you have been great. I'd always remember the classes we had together. I know I hope you are very successful future - I know if you keep your head strong - ideas! determination - you will.
Always

Through dramatics, students enter make-believe worlds

Through dramatics, students enter make-believe worlds. They act out scenes from books and plays, and through this process, they learn to express their feelings and ideas in a creative and imaginative way. This is a very important part of the English curriculum, as it helps students to develop their communication skills and to understand the world around them in a new and exciting way.

Our adviser is camera-shy. This space was intended for a photograph showing her in some accustomed action — typing, writing, proofing, reading, teaching, laying-out a news page, or any one of a legion of other things. She declined. And that was that. With our adviser there is one thing you learn to be sure of — when she says No, then No it is and that's an end to the matter!

The Cynosure

Those students who are given the honor of participating in the production of a school yearbook bear a heavy responsibility to their fellow students. Their task is to preserve an entire year in words and pictures. This year was for the staff of THE CYNOSURE a hectic maze of picture taking, typing, and worrying. However, the persistence, determination, and efficiency of Mrs. Newman and Editor Carol Mabe ultimately bore fruit and THE CYNOSURE '66 was achieved.

The Key Club undertakes various projects throughout the school year to benefit both school and community and accomplish its goal of service. Heading their docket of activities was Bundle Day, a clothing drive sponsored by Goodwill Industries. To raise funds for school water-coolers, the Key Club presented a musical show featuring the S.P.E.B.'s and Kappa-Tones, barbershop quartets, and co-sponsored an annual variety show, the Hi-Key Shenanigans. The major project undertaken by Key Club members was a Miss North High contest in which each club at North selected a girl to represent them. Bonnie Moore, Key Club Sweetheart, was chosen first runner-up by the student body vote.

The Tri-Hi-Y is a girls' Christian service club, sponsored by the Y.M.C.A. for high school juniors and seniors whose purpose is to maintain and extend high standards of Christian character throughout home, school, and community. This year, the Tri-Hi-Y presented the school with an American flag, did a great service by frequently removing shattered glass from the parking lot, and joined the Anchor Club in the "Big Sister" project to assist sophomore girls in getting their feet firmly on the ground and off to a good start at North. Much time was given to the selling of programs at football games and working in the concessions stand during basketball games.

Dramatics

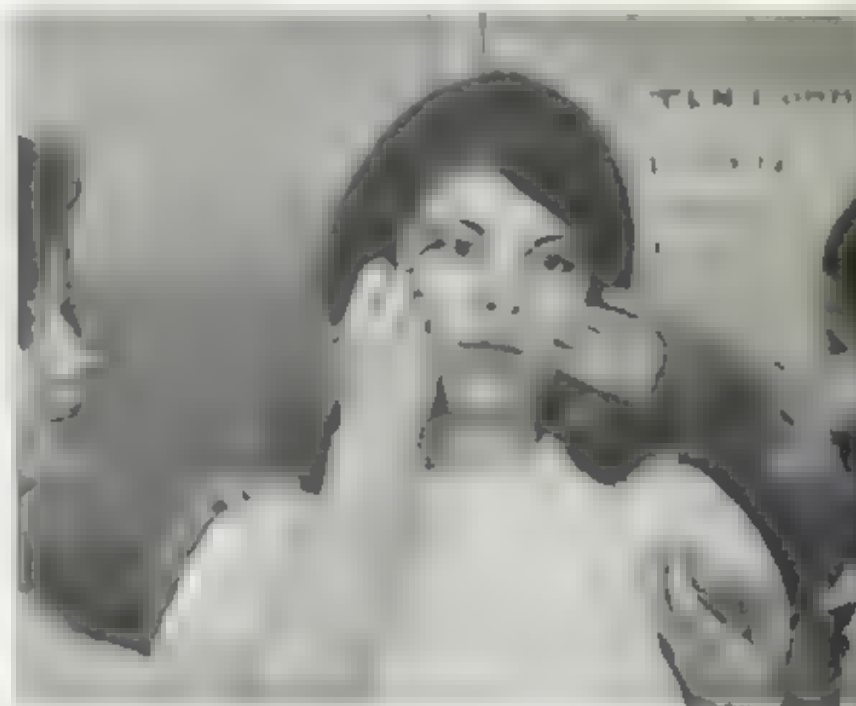

The Dramatics Department of North is small in number but not in talent! By participating in the Wake Forest Speech Festival and returning with several certificates of merit, their skill as tragedians has been enlarged. They have endeavored to perfect their own techniques by attending theatrical productions in the area. The Dramatics students are also largely responsible for the annual school play which is presented in the spring.

North High is well known for its outstanding brand of sportsmanship and school spirit. The Pep Club is one good reason for this distinction. Pep Club members work hard publicizing games, organizing peppery pep rallies, or making plans for victory celebrations. Projects of the Pep Club include the selection of the Victory Leaders of the Month, who are chosen because of their outstanding school spirit, and sponsorship of a talent assembly. A Victory Dance, which was presided over by a King and Queen chosen from the Victory Leaders, capped the year's activities.

The North Forsyth Marching Band is ever-increasing in size and talent. Under the direction of band director, Carlyle Chiddister, and drum major, Craig Snow, band members paced through a variety of colorful half-time shows. Parade performances and a trip to Appalachian State Teachers College to take part in the homecoming festivities highlighted the year's activities. Members of the Color Guard and the Majorettes, Sarah Nifong, Janet Blair, and Shirley Bell, were incorporated with the band in all performances. Members of the Marching Band also formed a Pep Band to boost school spirit at pep rallies and games. A Concert Band was formed at the conclusion of football season. The band toured many county junior high schools to present musical programs to prospective high school students.

Some band students who possess exceptional talent and interest in music are selected as members of the school stage band, the "Starlighters." This band creates a romantic mood at proms and dances through its melodious form of music and the showmanship of its musicians. The stage band is under the direction of Mr. Chiddister.

Learning what to do, how to do it, and when to do it is most important in most fields, especially athletics. Beginning their third season at North, the Vikings proved themselves confident and worthy representatives of North. Captain Mike Knight led the Viking squad with true distinction, always striving to attain excellence in football and sportsmanship. When the Vikings played, they played hard — and never could any individual say that the members of the squad were unworthy representatives of North High School. The football field was not only a place for physical development, but as the players worked together, each gained standards and ideals that characterize the strong.

NORTH VS. PARKLAND

The Parkland Mustangs ran a single wing formation in the opening game of the season to defeat North, 27-0.

NORTH VS. WEST FORSYTH

The teams stood each other off in the fourth quarter of a great defensive battle. Mike Knight spearheaded an eight-play drive on which North went across the goal to victory, 7-6.

NORTH VS. PAGE

The Vikings scored on an aerial from Mike Knight to Ronnie Rockett in the early minutes of the game, and clinched it with another touchdown in the fourth quarter to win, 14-6.

NORTH VS. REYNOLDS

Late in the fourth quarter the Vikings rallied to score on a recovered fumble. Don Grubbs then booted an 18-yard field goal, bringing the score to what it was at the final buzzer, North 10 Reynolds 0.

NORTH VS. EAST FORSYTH

Keith Sechrist scored a Viking touchdown on a 64-yard runback from an intercepted Eagle aerial, and Don Grubbs later made good a dramatic 35-yard field goal. However, the Eagles scored two touchdowns in the final four minutes to win, 13-10.

NORTH VS. LEXINGTON

Tim Duff scored for the Vikings when he recovered a Lexington fumble, but Lexington's powerful offense broke the game open in the second period and defeated North, 32-14.

NORTH VS. BURLINGTON

Central 4-A Conference Champions, Burlington Williams, defeated the stubborn North squad on three touchdowns. The Bulldogs drove steadily against the Vikings, handing them a defeat for Homecoming. The final score, Burlington-20, North-0.

NORTH VS. HIGH POINT

The Vikings were unable to warm-up against the Black Bisons' strong passing offense, and were handed a 38-0 defeat.

NORTH VS. GRIMSLEY

Grimsley ran and passed well against a stubborn Viking defense. North player Mike Lawson highlighted the Viking performance with a dramatic kick-off runback to the Grimsley 41-yard line that resulted in a touchdown. The final score, North-20, Grimsley-27.

NORTH VS. SALISBURY

Mike Knight bombed splint end Ronnie Rockett with consecutive touchdown passes to defeat a sluggish Salisbury 27-7.

Junior Varsity Football

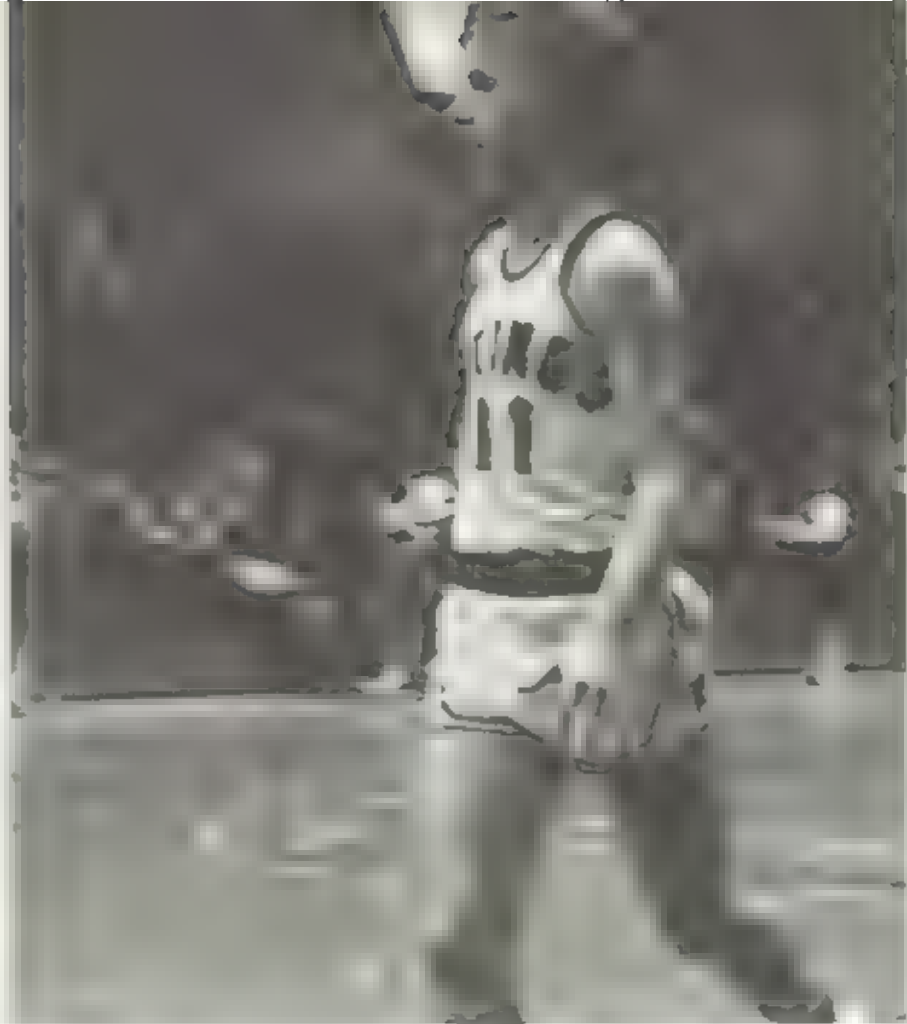

J. V. football coach, Gray Cartwright, urges student support of the team

Coach Cartwright, assisted by Mr. Burris, worked with the Junior Varsity football squad this year. The Baby Vikings had a winning season, finishing with a 5-4 record. Captains were alternated from week to week, according to the individual performances of the players during practice sessions. The Vikings exhibited excellent sportsmanship and developed individual and team skills. They received experience that will be helpful in making them assets to future Viking teams. The high mark of the J. V. season came when they defeated East, 7-6.

Basketball

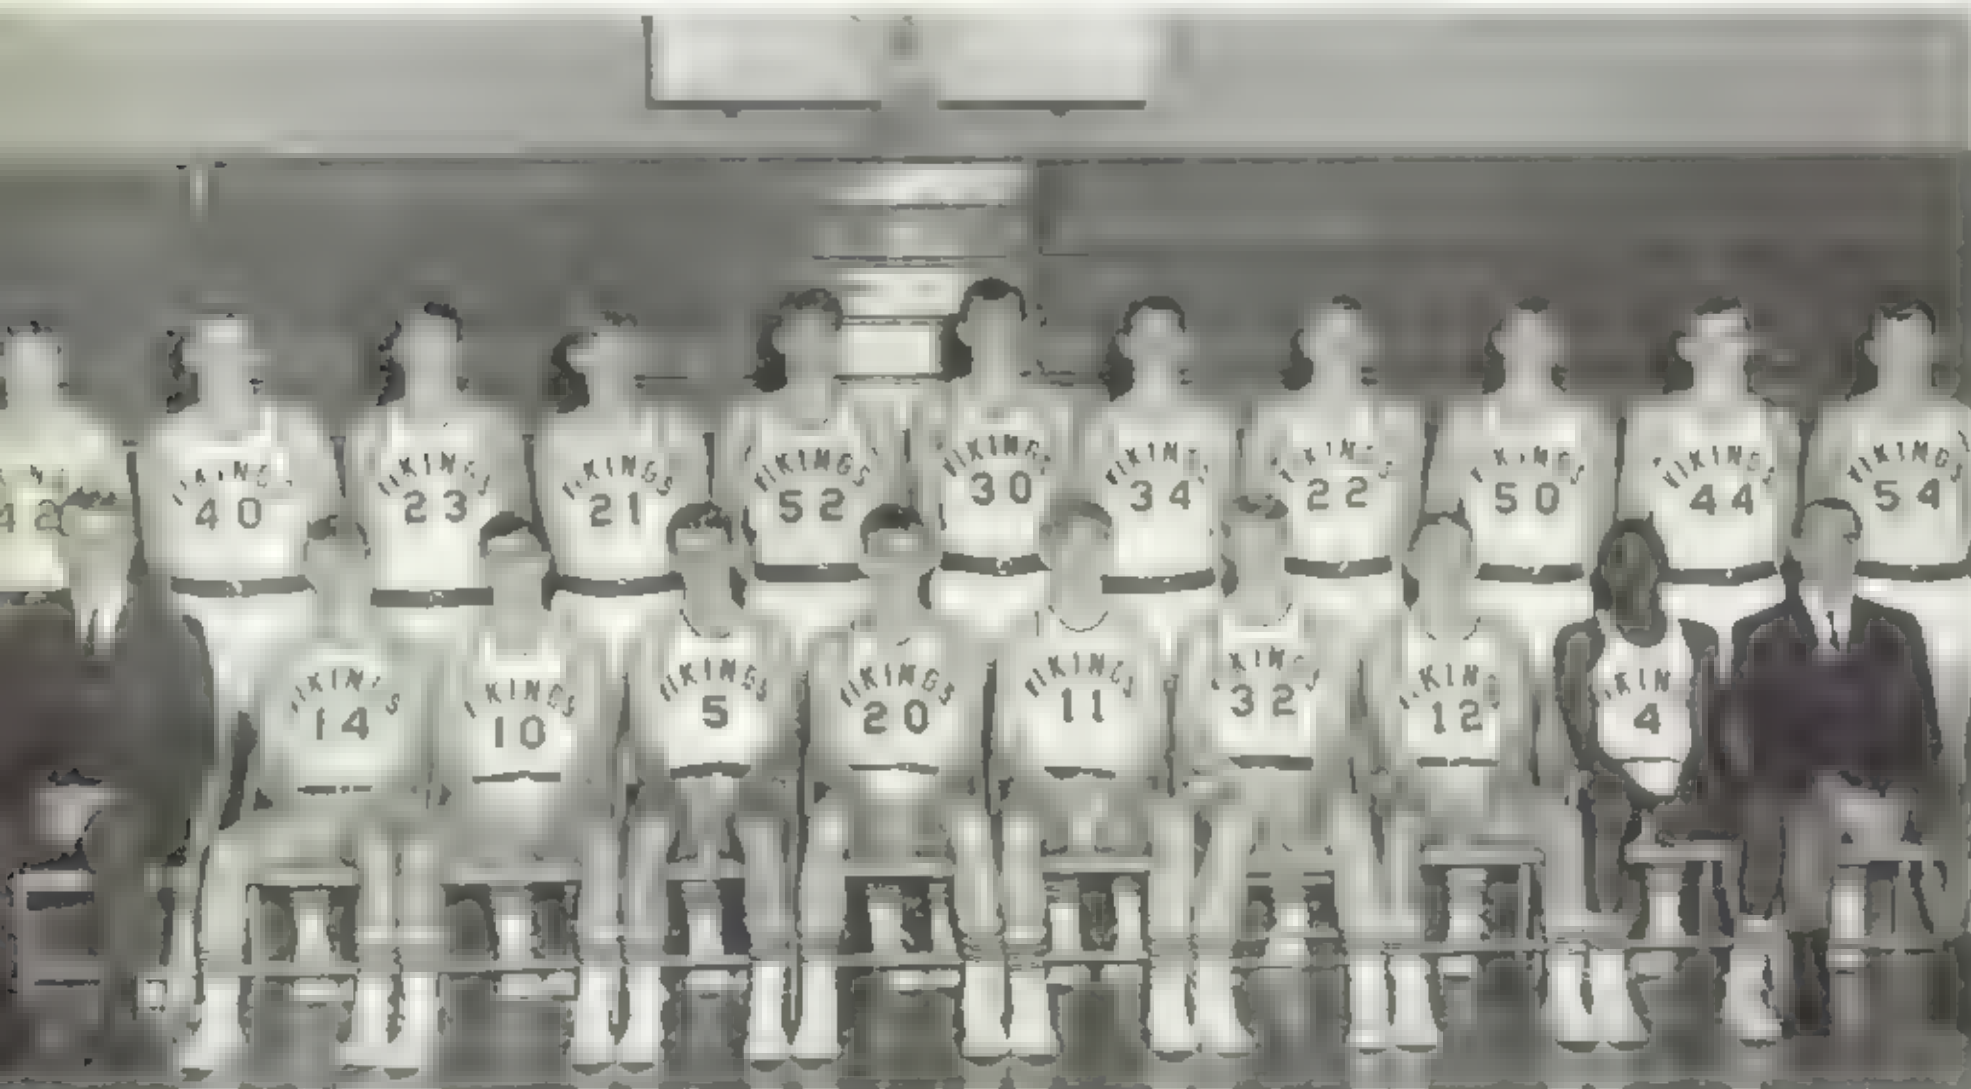

Coach Gray Cartwright's Vikings entered the Central 4-A Conference for the first time this year. Although the North High cagers were slow in jelling under the pressure of their first few games, they soon learned to work together, picking up speed and talent as the season reached the halfway point. It was then that the Vikings began to demonstrate that aggressive and seasoned play that made North one of the top defensive teams in the conference. Many a rival of the Vikings shattered offensively under the precision defensive patterns that the Vikings demonstrated against those rivals. North boasted a good bench throughout the season. Spectators could usually guess three of the starting five before a game, but very few could predict all five starters. Versatility became a characteristic of the Viking squad.

A North runner shows excellent form as he clears a hurdle

Watch Dufour stay as still as a rock at the broad jump

North's Track and Field team, under the coaching of former track star, Mr. Rhyne, made constant efforts to improve the level of their own skill. Track, a traditionally rugged and disciplinary sport, was demanding of the members of the track team this year. Members of the Viking squad made sacrifices, worked hard, and improved their minds and bodies through self-discipline.

Wrestling

In a wrestling exhibition, a North wrestler prevents his opponent from getting the advantage

During a year of wrestling at North, participating Vikings learned that this sport takes a combination of strength and skill unmatched in any other form of athletics. Skills of strength and maneuverability were acquired through long hours of concentration and practice. Coach Larrimore taught his boys to wrestle their hardest and taught them well.

The Viking nine, coached by Mr. Barringer, competed in 4-A baseball this year, representing North well. The Vikings boasted good hitting and strong fielding. Seniors Don Grubbs and Larry Thompson were North's leading hitters. Also leading the Viking squad were ace pitchers Kent Campbell, a right-hander, and southpaw Danny Marshall. The Vikings, finishing their season with a great show of team effort, were backed up by a host of junior players who made up the bulk of the North squad.

Golf

Mr. Nifong coached the golf team at North this year. Many boys played the rounds at Pinebrook, went through the process of evaluation, and learned to play with greater care and finesse. Many young enthusiasts participated in the sport for either development of individual skill or enjoyment of competition.

GOLF TEAM: S. Hauser, P. Taylor, H. Stewart, D. Tuttle, J. Tothill, M. Kallam.

FIRST ROW: B. Cooper, M. Livingston, D. Weaver, I. Sappington, B. Ratterree, B. Hollifield. SECOND ROW: G.

Squad

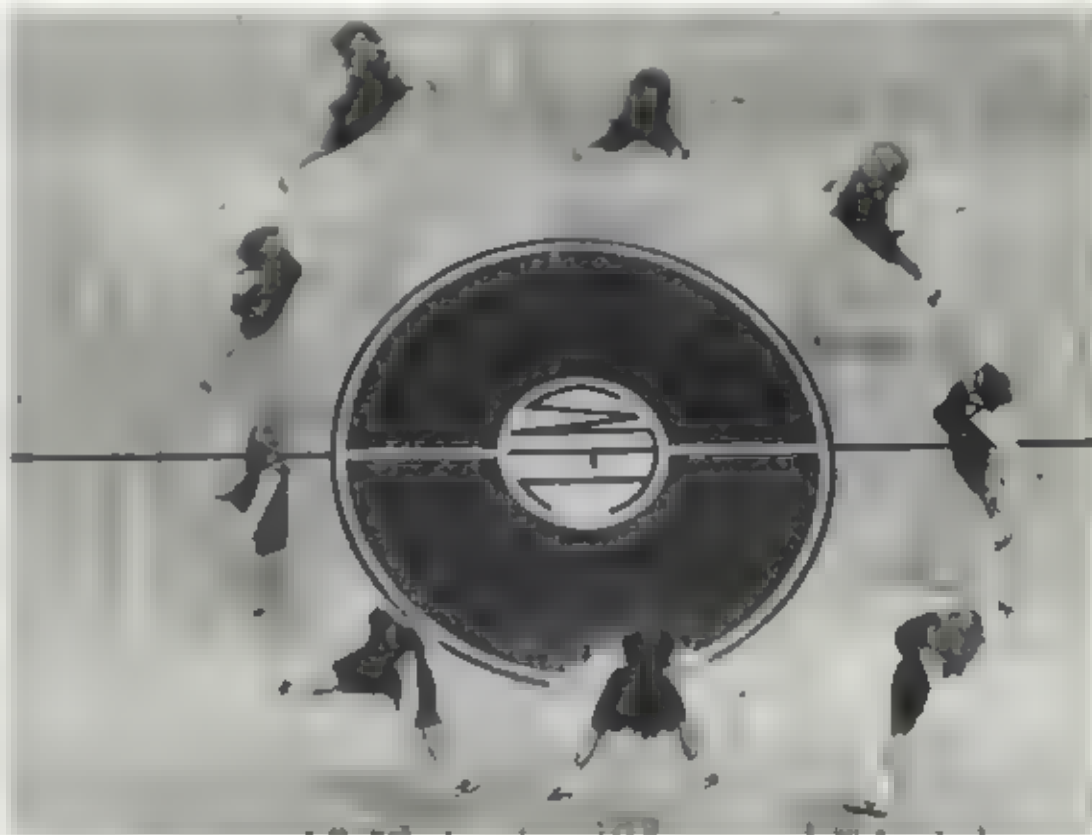

Squad members pose at a football game

Long hours of diligent practice produced the outstanding cheerleading squad which urged the Vikings toward victory throughout the 1965-1966 athletics seasons. With undiminishing zeal, these nine girls, united by loyalty, school spirit, and devotion, led the student body in cheering the teams at games and pep rallies.

An outstanding squad of sophomores served as Junior Varsity Cheerleaders this year to urge their fellow classmen to victory. Numerous practice sessions and the willingness of each girl to give of her best led to a precision performance at each pep rally and athletic game.

ACTION— captured

Always the frivolous gaiety . . .

The endless striving for success . .

The dreams for the future . . .

forever within these pages . . .

The memories of a wonderful year

Unending curiosity

Days of turmoil and activity end . . . another year passes into the haze called The Past . . . for some there is next year . . . new work . . . new organizations . . . new pastimes . . . for some this is the end of a phase in the metamorphosis of life. The end and the beginning to years of striving . . . searching . . . questing for knowledge . . . end and beginning . . . the world is open to conquest. There is fear in leaving . . . but anticipation too. North has given of herself to the student . . . provided a way of life. Within her well-loved walls futures have been formed . . . personalities molded . . . and great men and women prepared for their destiny. Now her halls lie quiet . . . dreaming . . . remembering . . . looking to a new school year . . . new students . . . new teachers . . . new activities. ACTION has not ceased . . . it only lies briefly resting.

Hi, Sidney!

Never's a great school, isn't it? And you have helped to make it that way and our senior year one of the greatest at THS. I think the world of you, Sidney. Don't let anyone put you around like L.K. again.
I miss you all the best.

Love,
Francis Shelton

Sidney,
It has been really great
knowing a great guy like you.
I've only known you for a short time but this short time knowing you has been great. I only wish I had known you longer. I will always remember that wonderful play "Calamity Jane"
and all the wonderful times we all had together.
Lots of luck and Best wishes to a wonderful guy,
A friend always,
Luby.

Sid,

Greatness lies deeper still than mere life's thoughts and the great man's will.
Christian Anton Ford

Seniors at last. Although we've spent 12 years in hard labor, I must say it was worth it. Good luck at college next year. Bill Russell

Sid, I hope your
it has been full year a wonder. I have for you. I enjoyed knowing you. I certainly enjoyed those past years.
I must have forgotten all those classes I want "stimulating" this English. I want we wish you very best in life and may God bless you!
Remember-
Landra Gibson
